Final Action By Council On Graham

The Student Council took final action Monday in inviting Reverend Billy Graham to speak at Sacramento State. The final motion was made by Mike Linn, ASSSC secretary-treasurer, to extend the invitation to Billy Graham to speak on this campus on a topic of his own choosing, at no expense to the ASSSC, coordinated by the Student Association, pending the approval of the Executive Council of the college."

Bob McCarthy, Junior Class president, reported that there were a group of local people who were willing to finance Graham's trip if necessary, to prevent the use of ASSSC funds. McCarthy said that the group wanted to remain anonymous, but that they were reputable persons.

The Council discussed the fact that there would have to be a consideration by the Executive Council concerning just how the money would be appropriated.

The motion was passed by a unanimous decision with three abstentions.

Bruce Porter, present ASSSC president, and Lee Elam, next year's president, reported on their trip to the annual Pacific Student President's Association convention. The convention was held at the University of Oregon. Porter led a discussion on orientation of new students. He said that other colleges were favorably impressed with SSC's handbook for new students.

Requests by the Photo Club Baptist Student Union to reactivate were approved by the council.

The Council also approved the Cabinet's recommendation for boxing awards.

MCGUIRE GOES TO THE THEATRE

By DIX McGUIRE

FIVE YEARS ago, Hollywood Censors found themselves in a rather sticky position when Otto Preminger decided to put the F. Hugh Herbert comedy, The Moon Is Blue, on the screen. References to sex, virtue, and mistresses, they felt, would arouse too much unfavorable criticism. When Preminger went ahead and released the picture without the Breen Office seal of approval, however, even in the face of criticism it proved to be a smash. Jayrob productions has brought this play to Sacramento and the size of the crowds it has been drawing testifies that this production, too, is a hit.

SET IN New York City, the play concerns a young architect, Donald Gresham, and a girl, Patty O'Neil, who meet atop the Empire State Building. Gresham talks Patty into going with him to his apartment, where the two encounter David Slater, a delightfully brazen libertine who seems to be in a state of perpetual intoxication and who is also the father of the girl with whom Gresham broke up in the wee small hours of that same morning.

SLATER DOES his best to act like an irate father, but he apparently is not cut out for the job. His roving eye leads him to pursue the affections of Patty, which in turn makes Gresham rather unhappy, to tread as lightly as possible.

THE PLOT, a surprisingly simple one, is sprinkled with charming conversation, and it is this conversation which makes the play the success that it is, perhaps because it deals with well . . . uh . . . sex, but more likely because of the manner in which the subject is treated.

AS DAVID Slater, John Ickes does a most commendable job. So much so, in fact, that he would have walked away with the whole show had not the other members of the cast been so outstanding. April Smith as Patty and Harry Martin as Gresham were a pleasure to watch, and they both handled their roles with the polish and ease that takes the viewer right out of the audience and onto the stage with the actors. Bob Conger, as Patty's father, received his share of the laughs, and there were certainly plenty to go around.

THE PLAY will run this weekend and next, Friday and Saturday, at the Theater Studio Playhouse, 1515 18th St. Curtain time 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be reserved by telephoning IV 3-3198 or GI 3-1360.

'Iceman' Results Please Larson

Dr. Gerard Larson, director of The Iceman Cometh, announced the attendance and results of a preference poll taken at the performanche to determine audience coices for next year's productions.

A total of 1,226 persons saw the SSC production of O'Neil's play with the largest audience of 440 on Saturday night. The audience preferred The King and I as a musical production for next year. Other plays receiving many votes were Mr. Roberts, Streetcar Named Desire, Look Homeward Angel, The Diary of Anne Frank and Long Day's Journey Into Night.

Larson stated that he was pleased with the great audience response to the difficult and comparatively non-commercial play.

Geetings' TV Show Examines New Books

By DEBBY LONDON

". . .Baxter M. Geeting, Chairman of the Division of Humanities and Fine Arts of Sacramento State College, and Mrs. Geeting, bring you Reading for Pleasure," a program for people who do just that . . . read for plesure." It was 11 o'clck Sunday morning, and we had taken our seats in studio three of station KCRA, radio and TV. Sitting next to us was a white-haired, mustached, poetic individual smoking a pipe. He fixed a dispassionate eye upon us and nodded, as if we should recognize him.

"I'd like to talk about James Agee and his Pulitzer prize-winning novel, A Death in the Family," said Mrs. Geeting. She sat with Dr. Geeting in a study behind a desk which held microphones, books, and three sculptured aborigine heads. After Agee, Mrs. Geeting talked about Rumer Godden's "Greengage Summer." "You will enjoy this book," she smiled. May I recommend it?"

"AND MAY I talk about Hong Kong?" "queried Dr. Geeting, holding up a copy of the book by that name. The camera panned in quickly, and on the monitor we saw the cover of the adventure tale under discussion. Lethargically, the camerman was chewing gum.

THEN THE poetic individual arose. He was Clark Ashton Smith.

"A resident of both Pacific Grove and Auburn, Mr. Clark Ashton Smith has been writing since the age of eighteen. He even carved the little heads you see here on the desk."

Poet Smith nodded and smiled with half his mouth.

REMINISCENT of Poe in his work, Mr. Smith takes us back into antiquity, into the elusive, imagined world of terror that runs with sub-conscious."

"I'm sometimes called a science fiction writer, and I don't like it. Contemporary science fiction is too orthodox and commercial," Smith said.

"WE UNDERTAND you carried on extensive correspondence with George Sterling," said the Geetings.

"Yes. I read some of Sterling's poetry a long time ago, in Cosmopolitan, and I wrote to him. We wrote to each other until his death. Our correspondence will soon be published."

"We understand your poetry has been well-received in England."

"I'M KNOWN widely over there." Smith gently stated.

"Well, thank you, Mr. Clark Ashton Smith, for visiting with us this morning."

"Oh, ah, m-m-m, yes!" The aged poet fled; the tall, dark, tatooed director crouched, stlithered up to the Geetings' desk, and grabbed the aborigine heads. It was seconds before 11:30.

WE WATCHED the monitor for the sign-off, and asked Dr. Geeting afterwards how he chooses the literature for his program.

"We kind of look the new things over. Then, if we're interested, we think you would be, too. We receive most of the books in the mail, and the ones we don't get that way we borrow."

"DO YOU READ everything from cover to cover?"

"Oh, yes. If we don't, our audience can tell. Mrs. Geeting and I spend two hours reading each night, from 10 to 12. It gives us an opportunity to read when we wouldn't otherwise be doing it. We find the show actually quite beneficial."

THE DIRECTOR was taking down the fake books hung on the wall of the study set. The beneficial show was over.

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, will hold piedging ceremonies at a luncheon tomorrow at 12:30 p.m. in Sam's Ranch Wagon.

Installation of officers and a dance will be held the same day beginning at 8 p.m. at Camp Pollock. Fraternities from Davis and Chico have been invited to attend.

Shooting MARbles

By BOB MAR

"Silence is not always golden —sometimes it is just plain yellow."

In Dostoevsky's novel, "Crime and Punishment," we find a passage similar to this: A man invites his drunken companions to continue a party at his home. He tells his friends to climb into his cart, which is drawn by a scrawny, undernourished old mare, and hands whips to them. The drunken men begin to beat the horse with their lashes. The poor mare pulls with all her might, but can scarcely manage to move the cart one step at a time. Working away helplessly with her skinny legs, she snorts and cowers under the blows of the three whips which are belaboring her mercilessly. Blinded with anger, the drunken owner and his friends shower blow after blow on the helpless old mare, as though this will make her gallop. They whip her across the muzzle, yes, and ears, they kick her, poke her, jab her, beating and flogging her until she breathes her last.

THEN, TOO THERE IS the story of the fisherman sitting on the bank of a river, indulging in his favorite pastime. Across this river was a drawbridge, which was up to let a passing boat through. As he sat fishing, he glanced up and noticed the village blindman walking towards the open bridge. He said to himself, "By gum, if someone doesn't tell that fellow the bridge is off, he'll fall through." The sportsman continued with his fishing and moments later looked up again. This time the blind man was getting closer to the bridge. Again he said to himself, "By gum, if someone doesn't tell that fellow the bridge is off, he'll fall through.'" Once more the fisherman threw out his line. A minute later he looked up and this time said to himself, "By gum, that fellow has fallen through."

AS MUCH AS WE may dislike butting into other people's business, there are times when other people's business should be our own. It is a truism that the most we can do is very little, therefore the least we can do is to do the most we can. It is better to try and fail, than fail to try.

PI MU EPSILON

Pi Mu Epsilon, national honorary mathematics fraternity, will hold a banquet and initiation of officers at Ken's Red Barn, May 29, at 7 p.m.

There will be a guest speaker. This will be the last meeting of the year for the group. The people planing the dinner and activities are: Betty Thomas, Brandon Wheeler, and Marcella May.

THE ENGINEERS HAVE HAIRY EARS

Today in this age of technology when engineering graduates are wooed and courted by all of America's great industries, how do you account for the fact that Rimbaud Sigafoos, who finished at the very top of his class at M.I.T., turned down hundreds of attractive job offers to accept employment as a machinery wiper at the Acme Ice Company at a salary of $20 a week with a twelve-hour day, a seven-day week, and only fifteen minutes for lunch?

...Engineering Grads are Wooed and Courted...

I know what you are thinking: "Cherchez la femme!" You are thinking that Mr. Acme, head of the Acme Ice Company, has a beautiful daughter with whom Rimbaud is madly in love and he took the job only to be near her.

Friends, you are wrong. It is true that Mr. Acme does have a daughter, a large, torpid lass named Clavdia who spends all her waking hours scooping marzipan out of a bucket and staring at a television set which has not worked in some years. Rimbaud has not the slightest interest in Clavdia; nor, indeed, does any other man, excepting possibly John Ringling North.

So how come Rimbaud keeps working for the Acme Ice Company? Can it be that they provide him with free Marlboro Cigarettes, and all day long he enjoys that filter, that flavor, that flip-top box?

No, friends, no. Rimbaud is not allowed to smoke on the job, and when he finishes his long, miserable day, he has to buy his own Marlboros, even as you and I, in order to enjoy that estimable filter, that incomparable flavor, that crazy flip-top box.

Well, friends, you might as well give up because you'll never in a million years guess why Rimbaud works for the Acme Ice Company. The reason is simply this: Rimbaud is a seal!

He started as a performing seal in vaudeville. One night on the way to the Ed Sullivan show, he took the wrong subway. All night the poor mammal rode the B.M.T., seeking a helping hand. Finally a kindly brakeman named Ernest Thompson Sigafoos rescued the hapless Rimbaud.

He took Rimbaud home and raised him as his own, and Rimbaud, to show his appreciation, studied hard and got excellent marks and finished a distinguished academic career as valedictorian of M.I.T.

Rimbaud never complained to his kindly foster father, but through all those years of grammar school and high school and college, he darn near died of the heat! A seal, you must remember, is by nature a denizen of the Arctic, so you can imagine how poor Rimbaud must have suffered in subtropical New York and Boston, especially in those tight Ivy League suits.

But today at the Acme Ice Company, Rimbaud has finally found a temperature to his liking. He is very happy and sends greetings to his many friends.

Hornets At Nevada Tomorrow

Tennis Squad Wins Three League Titles

Sacramento State's championship tennis squad concluded their season last Saturday by winning three of the four possible FWC titles in doubles and singles in Chico. The Hornets won the A division doubles title, and the AB division title in singles and doubles.

Ken Nicolai and Tony Damiani defeated teams from Humboldt State and Chico State to get to the final round against San Francisco State. In the final round Damiani and Nicolai defeated the Gator team of Bob Remsing and Greg Miller 6-3, 7-5, 11-9.

This was the second year in a row that the Green and Gold tennis squad has won the A division doubles title. Last year Damiani and Harry Coleman won the title in five long sets.

Jerry Tollefson played excellent tennis in winnig the B singles title. Trailing two sets to one against Bill Cheung of SFS Tollefson rallied to take the remaining sets 6-2, 6-3.

In B doubles Al Kahn and Bob Nielson teamed up to defeat a team from Chico State 6-0, 6-4, 7-5.

This concluded the season for coach Jack Jossis team as they wound up with twenty-three wins against three losses. This included the FWC team title by virtue of defeating all of the conference schools. The Hornets defeated Cal Aggies, Humboldt State, Chico State, and Nevada by the identical scores of 7-0. They clinched the title on April 12th when they squeezed past San Francisco State 4-3. Hal Roach and Ken Nicolai clinched this match for the Hornets when with the score tied tree all, they defeated Bob Remsing and Bill Cheung in the final doubles match.

They also had wins over COP, Southern Oregon, Lewis and Clark, and British Columbia.

Seniors on the squad include Ken Nicolai, Bob Nileson and Al Kahn.

SSC Downs Santa Clara In Slugfest

There were plenty of runs, hits and errors last Friday afternoon when the Hornets met the Santa Clara Broncos in a non-conference tilt. The final score was 16 to 14 with the Hornets coming out on top.

The game was clearly a hitters dream as the Hornets collected 17 hits and Santa Clara picked up 14. This combined with 3 Hornet errors and 4 Bronco errors gave the spectators plenty of action. Sacramento picked up four runs in the first inning, six runs in the second and five runs in the third to jump off to a 15 to 3 lead.

Not content to lie down and play dead, Santa Clara, who are leaders in their own conference, bounced back to give the Hornets a real scare as they picked up six runs in the fourth, three in the sixth and two more in the seventh. Relief hurler Gene Schroeder of the Hornets came in during the sixth inning and finished up the game to pick up the win. Schroeder shut out Santa Clara in the final two innings.

Starter Jim Gil of Santa Clara was charged with the loss as he gave up four runs in the first and was removed. The Broncos used five pitchers in the nine inning contest.

Dick Nunes of the Hornets batter in four runs with two triples and two singles and Larry Kelley and Syl DeLeon picked up two singles apiece to lead the Hornets in the hit department.

The game was a makeup of one which was rained out earlier in the year. Coach Hal Wolf of the Hornets was extremely pleased by the showing of the team, as the hitting has really improved in the last 10 games.

Santa Clara is setting the pace in the Far West Athletic Conference and will wind up their season this weekend as will the Hornets.

SSC Nine Seek Fifth FWC Title

After last week's wild non-conference tilt with Santa Clara, which the Hornets won 16 to 14, the team travels to Reno for a double header with the Wolfpack tomorrow afternoon.

Tomorrow's game marks the final appearance for the team this season and if all goes well SSC should return with its fifth straight Far West Conference title in a row.

The Hornets, going into tomorrow's contest have a 6 win and two loss record to lead the league. One loss would put the Hornets in a two way tie for the crown with Chico who has finished the season with a 7 win and 3 loss record.

FWC STANDINGS	W	L
SSC	6	2
Chico State	7	3
Humboldt State	5	3
San Francisco State	5	3
Nevada	2	6
Cal Aggies	1	9

With the conference championship riding on their efforts, the Hornets will be sending their strongest pitcher to the mound when Gene Schroeder takes the hill. Schroeder has a three win and no loss record in conference play. In the second game coach Hal Wolf will probably start either Wes Fain or Will Kinney on the mound.

Coach Hal Wolf of the Hornets is looking for a tough two game series from Nevada as they have displayed an ability for upsetting the apple cart at the wrong time. Nevada's record, doesn't show a top team as they have won two while losing six. They have, however won key games in the past and tomorrow's games are the most important of the season for the Hornets. A double win would give the Hornets undisputed possession of first place. A split will bring a tie with Chico and no play off.

Sacramento's leading hitters and RBI men this week are Syl DeLean with .421 and 12 RBI's. Larry Kelley with .372 and 12 RBI's, John Mazzei is still leading in the RBI department with 21, followed by Terry Cummings with 17.

Coach Wolf is expected to go with about the same lineup that he used in the Santa Clara game as this has proved to be a strong combination. Larry Kelley will open in center, Dick Nunes, who led the Hornets to a victory over Santa Clara, will be at shortstop, Terry Cummings will bat third and play in left field, John Pintar in right field and John Mazzei will be behind the plate.

At third base will be Syl DeLeon and at second George Pickett and over at first base Tom Zunino.

SSC Takes Third In Chico Meet

OCD and Rinkys Top Intramurals

Omega Chi Delta in the Fraternity League and the Rinky Dinks in the Open League are showing their superiority on the diamond as both teams have a 7-0 record in intramural softball competition.

Both first place teams have been well organized this season and have had little trouble staying in the winners column. Second position in the Fraternity League is held by Chi Sigma Rho with a 4-2 record. A tie is posted for third place between Alpha Pi Delta and Xi Theta Chi with 3-3 and one tie for each. Kappa Sigma Phils next with 1 win against 5 losses followed by the Business Office with no wins and 5 losses.

In the Open League, the Slow Pokes are holding down second place with a 6-1 record followed by Gunns Goon's in third place with 3-3. A three way tie between the 550 Club, The Faculty Staff and Newman Club is posted for fourth place with 1 win and 5 losses for each.

The Tennis and Badminton games are three weeks over due as of this date. All persons having games remaining are requested to contact Coach Boyes or Eldon Buhler as soon as possible. Those players failing to do so will be scratched from the list.

Hornets Down Canadians

Last Thursday the Far Western tennis champs from Sacramento State College met and easily defeated the currently touring tennis team form the University of British Columbia. The matches tookplace on the Hornets home courts, the SSC netmen emerging victorious by a score of 7-2. The only Hornet tennismen to fall before the hands of the Canadian invaders were Ken Nicolai in his singles match and Tony Damiani and Nicolai in a closely contested first doubles match.

The following day the victorious SSC netsters traveled to Chico to play in the FWC individual championships. Again the Hornets tennis men emerged victorious by winning the Class A doubles, the Class B doubles and the Class B singles match. This was the second year in a row that the SSC tennis team has won these three events. They were represented in the Class A doubles by Tony Damiani and Ken Nicolai; in the Class B doubles by Bob Parks and Bob Nielson; and by Jerry Tellefson in the Class B singles. Dickie Peters of San Francisco State won the Class A singles.

According to head tennis coach Jack Jossi, "this has been a most successful year for tennis at Sacramento State. While we were not scheduled to be strong contenders for conference laurels, nevertheless we overcame several unexpected set-backs and for the second year in a row emerged the conference champions. The outlook for next year seems quite promising if we are successful in gaining several new men to fill in for the men we will be losing from this year's squad. Three of our top seven will be absent from next year's team, and we are in need of several strong men to replace them.'

Missing from next years squad will be Ken Nicolai, Bob Nielson and Al Kahn. Returning to the varsity will be Tony Damiani, Hal Roach, Jerry Tellefson and Bob Parks.

LET'S KEEP THE RECORD STRAIGHT

Last week's "Porter Report," the column presided over by SSC's student body president, made several charges which we, at first glance, were prone to take lightly since we feel it is the function of a college paper to allow for a cross section of opinion, no matter how far-fetched some of the thoughts expressed might be. However, several students have asked us to straighten out the erroneous impressions Porter may have left in his wake.

First off, Porter maintained that The Hornet should be of "real service, and contribute something of real value wherever possible." We agree completely with this statement, and that is our avowed function. However, Porter seems to feel that any criticism of student government whatsoever is "not constructive."

May we suggest that if we were to waste good editorial space on undeserved praise of a student council and a student body president that are, for the most part ineffectual and misguided, we certainly would not be doing our job. After all, The Hornet also has responsibilities to the student body. If something is wrong, we are obligated to do whatever we can to bring the matter into focus.

Secondly, Porter said that the editor of The Hornet should, when he feels criticism is necessary, "have the gumption to carry through and offer some thoughtful, well intended (correct quote) ideas as to how the situation involved could be improved or corrected." Again, we are in accord. To this charge we will simply ask Bruce Porter whether it is not sometimes better to merely raise the question, hereby allowing the readers to draw their own conclusions about the matter at hand?

THE PORTER REPORT:

By BRUCE PORTER
ASSSC President

Over the past week and a half, there has been much lively interest and some little concern about the proposed visit of Reverend Billy Graham to our campus. As the situation stands at present, no one yet knows whether this proposed appearance will be made a reality. However, in order to understand the situation better, let's start at the beginning and follow step by step the Student Council action up to this point.

A week ago last Monday, one of the members of our Student Council voiced the belief that the possibility existed of bringing Billy Graham to our campus for a speaking engagement. Student Council was immediately launched on a lengthy discussion with both members of the council and visitors participating. After some time a motion was passed by the council recommending that the necessary steps be taken to procure the appearance of this man. However, final authority in this matter is vested in the Executive Council of our College, so the above recommendation was referred to the Executive Council for its consideration.

As of last Monday, the Executive Council had not yet met so Student Council was unable to take final action on this matter. However, because your Student Council does feel that the possibility of hearing Billy Graham on our campus is a worthwhile opportunity, a motion was passed as follows: Pending approval of the Executive Council, we authorize a letter of invitation (without stipulation as to topic) be sent to Reverend Graham asking him to speak at our campus .

Because Mr. Graham has spoken to many other colleges and universities and his topics have always been of the highest calibre, your Student Council did not feel it necessary to designate any particular limitations on the topic Mr. Graham would use. It has not been his practice to conduct evangelistic meetings on college campuses.

The consensus of your Student Council is that Mr. Graham is one of the most discussed public figures of today, and that as one facet of education, should he be invited to Sacramento State and accept the invitation, we would be privileged to hear him.

Letters to the Editor

GREAT MISUNDERSTANDING

Editor, The Hornet:

To explain to those who signed the petition about Billy Graham and then learned that the petition had been withdrawn, I am writing this letter.

When many of those people signed the petition, it was not evident that there would be so much misunderstanding about such a simple issue (i.e., objection to proselytizing on campus). If they still want to express their opinion individually, or as a group, they may do so on their own volition.

I have been quite surprised at the number of people who were all for the petition until they found out the pressure that was being applied by their true, blue friends.

I would like to thank those who are still supporting the issue.

I think that I could have handled the situation in a different manner. I still feel that the point is a valid one, but the misconstruencies have caused some negative publicity for the campus. For this I apologize.

The council has made their decision, and in all fairness to the council, it was to their credit that their consideration was a deliberate and well considered one. They are probably right in their belief that Graham will give an academic talk. And they did consider the problem of financing the speaker by other funds.

But I still disagree on several points. I think the money could be better used for something more educational than for a "name" speaker. But this is just one opinion against another.

The real objection I have is that some precedence or standard has not been set in inviting religious speakers. A Student Activities committee met to make a decision about a religious group that admitedly wanted to make students aware of the need of Christian fellowship at Sacramento State. Of course this was a different situation in the fact that their motives were not at all veiled.

But I think that there are certain similarities that could apply. It was the committee's contention that it would be contrary to college policy to sponsor such a group under the auspices of the Associated Students. If I remember correctly, this was their opinion (among others that were expressed). The vote of the committee was unanimous. It seems that there was at least an expression of potential standard to be set.

Now it seems that what's good for the goose is good for the gander. Could not some uniform standard be applied when inviting speakers of any religious denomination. Are we to say that we are to apply this principle only to persons of questionable integrity? Can we say that one speaker of religion is more responsible than another?

One last question. Who will be the first among you to go to the PTA meetings, 10 years hence, and complain that some teacher was giving prayer lessons in class?

THEY WANT BILLY

"We the undersigned of Psychology 155, Section 1, do hereby go on record as being in favor of having Billy Graham on campus to speak on a subject of his own choosing."

Such was the statement sent to the student council as a result of a discussion held during our class period. Our reasons for this decision are these:

1. Billy Graham is world famous as a result of his lectures. He has been influential in the lives of thousands, and we, as intelligent college students, should therefore feel it our responsibility to at least hear what he has to say.

2. Since the man has made his fame by discussing religion, it seems only logical that he should discuss that subject here.

3. It is true it would take money which has been contributed by non-Christians, but some of this money is also spent for football uniforms and yet not all of us understand and enjoy football.

These three reasons were our main concern and we thought it would be of some value to let the Student Council know how we felt since they as a group con function for the benefit of the student body only if they know what the students are thinking.

BARDFORD NO JUDGE

Editor, The Hornet:

In commenting on the letter printed in last week's Hornet by R. S. Bradford, may I say that it is a real pity when people have to resort to judging personalities instead of issues to get their opinion across.

Bradford has refered in a derogatory manner to the motives that led certain students on this campus to protest an unqualified visit by Dr. Graham here.

I would contend that a logical judgement of an issue cannot be reached by reducing whatever real issue is involved to one of personalities.

I would also say that Bradford is in no position to judge other peoples motives.

If the real issue (Dr. Graham's visit) was conjured up by publicity seekers and hence by implication not valid, I doubt very much that the Hornet would have given it so much e.g. an editorial plus the whole letters column, and that students all over the campus would bother debating it as much as they have.

100 BACK ESTELLE

Editor, The Hornet

This letter, in truth, should be addressed to the so righteous individuals who were so eager to condemn Wayne Estelle for his part in the Billy Graham issue. These obviously took no heed of Estelle's explanation for his views, which many of us consider quite well founded.

It would appear by all previous letters that there is no support for Estelle's stand. To the contrary, according to the petition that was in circulation, over 100 SSC students were in accord with Estelle.

And to you intolerant persons who were so quick to pass judgment, perhaps it would be best if you were to hereafter better consider the facts before you render your verdict.

I'm quite sure many of you were speaking through a thin veil of hypocrisy, never a good foundation for good judgment or rational thought.

Don't Tread On Me

By Bob Dayton

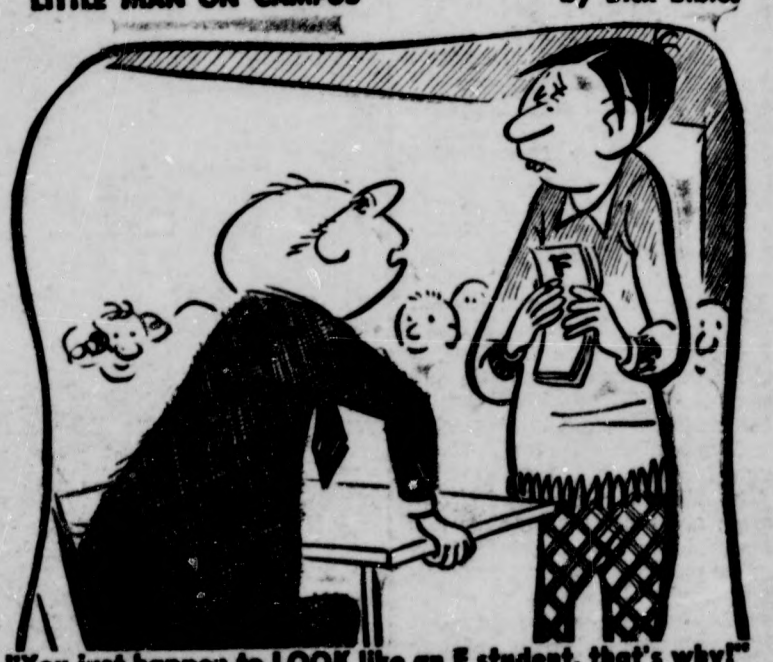

Once upon a time there was a boy who one day awoke to find that everything around him was making intelligible comments of some sort. The clouds spoke to each other as they passed in the sky. The grass whispered a barely audible secret of some sort and even the weeds gossiped amongst themselves. Being somewhat precocious the boy kept his new findings to himself. After all, if no-one-else was able to hear these conversations he could quite easily find himself in a padded private suite if he mentioned that even the saintly Easter lily told the filthiest jokes imaginable. One just didn't do these things.

And as the days passed our boy found that this other world was not a completely happy one, for it hurt to have a beetle chewing on one's leaves. And the loveliest flowers were probably justified in cursing and screaming as they were being cut for someone's table decoration. Being endowed with compassion for other creatures the boy soon found himself in a horrible predicament. No matter where he turned or what he did someone was made unhappy by his very existence. The floor groaned complainingly as he stepped onto it in the morning and his breakfast cereal started that diatribe he found common amongst all food . . . that everyone was created equal. The breakfast food he was able to squelch with a vigorous gnashing of his teeth and a quick swallow, but unfortunately ther are more things in life than just the edible.

So it was that one day the boy headed for school and never got there, for he had reached the breaking point. He had stepped gingerly off his front porch onto the sidewalk only to be met by a comment from the concrete to the effect that his walking was bruising it. He looked hesitantly back at the porch steps, but they, too, had been victims of his existence so he couldn't move there without bothering them again.

Then what happened? Oh he just stayed right where he was and never moved again. As far as I know he is still standing there, fearful of bothering anyone or anything by following the yellow brick road or any other road, for that matter. Moral: Some days you should stay in bed . . . asleep.
